

2030 Census: Provide Feedback

Planning for the 2030 Census is already underway and we are listening to diverse voices - like yours. For the first time, the public can formally give input on planning and designing the next census.

The Census Bureau is looking for recommendations on:

- Reaching and Motivating Everyone to Respond
—especially historically undercounted populations
- Technology
- New Data Sources
- Contacting the Public
- Providing Public Support

Each census takes years of planning and preparation. It's critical that everyone's ideas are heard now as we lay the groundwork for the 2030 Census.

Visit census.gov/2030census to find out how to share your ideas. The 90-day response window closes on November 15, 2022.

Your input will help design a better 2030 Census!
